Foreword

The academic years in a sense separate the student from the active life, giving him a time to broaden, if he will take the opportunity. They are confusing years to many; yet the confused must present a hold countenance in this age when independence is the pattern.

Ultimately, the college years are not remembered for the knowledge that is imparted; they are remembered for the people who became our friends, the people we had to learn to get along with, the people we thought better of when we gave them the chance to show themselves fairly.

The people we will remember. Our associations we will cherish. Davidson is a place to begin learning the art of living, the art of making distinctions, the art of knowing what is important. And so, if in the years to come we recall what Davidson life has meant to us, it will be for these things we sing . . .

All hail, O Davidson .

. . dear old Alma Mater

A new year with new faces for Davidson College began as two hundred sixty confused freshmen, comprising the largest class in history, arrived on campus early in September to start their orientation period. Optimism reigned as the majority of the neophytes understood little of what was in store for them. However, student advisers attempted to be helpful in introducing freshmen to the campus and in lending scholarly advice. Despair crept in very early after the battery of placement tests caught many a former high school valedictorian off guard. Other new faces were seen as nine European students were added to our international set.

Old, familiar faces, too, graced the scene with the return of the upperclassmen. Spirits soared as the old gang found a brand new fraternity court awaiting their approval. Hand-shaking and back-slapping were the order of the day either in the long registration lines or in celebration festivities in neighboring Iredell County.

Trustees gathered for the February meeting of the Board.

Wherever the September reunions occurred, conversational topics revolved around the new fraternity court and how the Davidson crew captured top honors at Fort Bragg. Others reported tales of the West while some boasted of (or confessed about) the courses they "got off" (or repeated) in summer school.

Before one could say "I'm going to ball that guy," Rush Week was at hand. Practically all of the Greeks had long been on campus helping with the new houses and lining up strategy before the first freshman set foot. This time the maze of names, faces, and shrimp did not conflict with class assignments, but the freshmen were still bewildered by it all, and after a weeklong trial Patterson Court awaited the verdict of the 260-man jury. Our fathers gave their best to thee . . .

Freshmen were greeted is itentative ammen id.

With the completion of Rush and its usual accompanying foibles, panaceas, and opinions, the formal social season started to whirl with the advent of Homecoming. This was the one the alumini, who came in scores, would all talk about. Still the theory that we can't win on the gridiron at Homecoming proved true once again.

Yet the party was over and we hit the books in earnest from Homecoming to examinations. This was the period of three reviews a week with term papers and labs thrown in to boot. Of course, there were many diversions from our monastic routine—even on the local scene. Caffeine philosophers met daily in the Union snack bar, as it was often necessary to part occasionally from "Phi Bete Hall" where quiet thought was distilled into knowledge. And when the intellectual grind reached the breaking point, "up the road" became a forceful call to action.

To the envy of senior pre-meds, Dana Science Laboratory construction made intermittent progress between the Church and the library. The distinguished philanthropist himself aroused much controversy at the ground-breaking ceremonies in this citadel of liberal arts when he declared "Science is king," although he was later cited by the Trustees on his return trip for his service and achievements. Only incidental was the fact that his was the largest single gift ever made to the school.

Many times our new President was seen in Chambers or walking across our tree-shaded campus. And on each occasion he did not fail to call us by our first names. Although many were truly sorry when suave "Slick" retired, "D. Grier" was acquiring growing popularity among the students in addition to the reputation he has always held as an excellent administrator in financial matters. His understanding of educational ideals along with his willingness to learn would further broaden him.

The Dana Science Laboratories under construction. New wing of library extends toward Dana building from background.

The conventional gripes over Vespers were intensified due to the overcrowded situation which the Trustees seemed to overlook. Chapel remained a study in group psychology, but the talks were unusually interesting this year as several eloquent seniors turned out to be masterful comedians in their quest for zest. But by far the most unusual occasion between the hours of 10:20 and 11 a.m. in Chambers auditorium was the time when the whispering demagogue representing American Viewpoint graced our chapel podium. A second memorable chapel program was that of Dr. Davidson's musically annotated history of the College as reflected in the lives of six of her "heroes."

For the most part things were the same as always at D. C. The "P.O." tracks were still well-beaten although this time the paths converged at a new location. Waking up with the assistance of unforgetable janitors was still comparable to suicide.

Classes still followed the cool coffee and soggy bacon. These were note-filled sessions with the professors—men whose eccentricities we reveled in and revered. In a word, complete relaxation and high tension were all part of a day's work. The catalogue of a Davidson week was a full one, one subject to pattern but also to much change within the limits of that pattern.

Freshman riots continued to provide an outlet for the yearling's excess energy, and the Court of Control still received its share of criticism from both sides. Many urged the junking of the Court, but others pointed toward the necessity of the age-old tradition for encouraging freshman class spirit and promoting the friendly custom of speaking to each campus passer-by.

A mild year of "normalcy" would be an apt way to characterize the year. During the sober autumnal phase the Big Three, Phi Beta Kappa, O D K, and Who's Who, announced or tapped their new membership. Student government innovations included elections changes as well as discussion and subsequent action on an Honor Court, a very good idea since our former judicial set-up was somewhat cumbersome.

One change observed particularly by those who fancied themselves antagonists was a more peaceful settlement between the realism of the student body and the idealism of the Erudite Ones. Complaints against the highhandedness and tyranny of the almightly Faculty Executive Committee were less numerous than had been the case in recent years. There remained some campus opposition to the increasing of enrollment to one thousand, a policy set last year by the Trustees. But plans for the new dormitory adjacent to Patterson Fraternity Court confirmed the intention of the College to open her doors wider.

Eumenean and Philanthropic Halls, part of original quadrangle, grace the front campus.

Despite her future course, the campus heritage will remain. Davidson College is perhaps all things to all men, and anything one who has been part of her heritage says is necessarily incomplete. It has been said that Davidson is a "way of life, based on things of the mind, tempered by manners and morality." There are many statements such as these in the college catalogue, most of which appraise the values of the small, liberal arts school. And yet the more one considers, the more he realizes the inherent truth in these socalled "pious platitudes."

Gradually the tentative friendships made at Davidson are metamorphosed into something deeper — a realization that at college one acquires the knowledge a diploma requires, but more about people, things, and life.

Many years from now the scenery will have changed, and we will look back on those long awaited Saturdays when, depending on the situation, those so inclined cleared away for a dozen states to "get away from it all." Nevertheless, that elusive, all-pervading quality of the Davidson spirit will always be a part of us, not merely a memory far off on the horizon of time.

In summary, the informality of each day is offset by a spiritual high-mindedness and a valued culture which are yours to gain and which belong as rightfully to you as they do to the institution. These are much too intangible to be set forth in pictures, but keep them in mind, and as you peruse the rest of these pages, may you be reminded of your best days at Davidson.

• casting their spell upon thy sons holding them still in faith and loyalty

DEDICATED TO David Grier Martin

It is with great pleasure and pride that the QUIPS AND CRANKS dedicates its 1959 edition to our new President. A leader whose path to Davidson's high office has been varied and interesting, Mr. Martin brings with him years of experience that render him especially suitable for the position he holds. Students and faculty alike have been enthusiastic with him in guiding Davidson College into a "new era" in the educational world. Combining an innate guality of humility and a personal charm with an underlying confidence, Mr. Martin promises to continue being a courageous and circumspect helmsman.

A native of Georgia, Mr. Martin completed his undergraduate work at Davidson with the class of 1932. Moving into the business world after graduate work and a short time in Davidson's alumni office, Mr. Martin was for several years a coal and then textile executive. His devotion to Davidson College again brought him back to the campus in 1951 when he became Treasurer. With Trustee action in the spring of 1958, Mr. Martin moved up Chambers' corridor to the President's office. It was particularly fitting that our sister institution, King College, conferred upon Mr. Martin this year an honorary doctorate; for Bristol, Tennessee, was his home and place of business during part of his earlier career.

At an April academic convocation this spring, educators and friends joined with the College in celebrating the formal inauguration of D. Grier Martin, devoted husband and father, virtuous personage, and dedicated leader.

> Mr. and Mrs. Martin were joined by their two sons, Mike, left, and D. G., at the occasion of Mr. Martin's election a year ago. Daughter Mimy was in France at the time.

curriculum improvements

As the college plant contently approximate point beyond which there in be no extensive in provement, the forefront of bavids on a development will necessarily shift toward educate and real process.

A seeminally static function in some respects has long been the number one academic problem. However, several advances towards "modernizmit" courses were made during the course of the year. To cite a few, Bible 11S, a hierary and historial introduction to the Bible, was offered to freshmen for the first time. An economics seminar was instgated by students who received no academic credit for it. In the English department, the progressive Prefessor Goodykeentz experimented with several innovations in his seminar courses.

Renovations in the mathematics and physics curncula next year will pave the way toward further reform in other departments. For example, there will be a division of pre-medical and engineering physics courses, and analytical geometry and calculus will be combined into a one-semester course.

As always, the pre-medical course remains strong, and the Honors courses are the liberal arts program at its best.

It was fitting that Dr. Frontis Johnston, a qualified educator with progressive attitudes, was selected this year as the new Dean of the Faculty, as he, primarily, will be promoting the quality of instruction offered at Davidson.

Faculty men broke their day to exchange ideas and small talk while relaxing over coffee in the Union snack bar. Occosionally, hesitant or bold undergraduates would join in—to their own pleasure and gain.

Campus Organizations Provided Outlets For Individual Interests

"When will I have a minute to . . ." This expression is as common to the Davidson campus as are tweed coats and crewcuts. Students here have more time than they are likely to admit, because they usually spend their free hours drinking coffee at the stud or in those enlightening "discussion circles," important elements in a liberal education. The remainder of their moments are filled with remembering past high school accomplishments and in planning to work for some campus activity . . . next year.

But the relative lack of student interest is in no way proportional to the effectiveness of the organizations portrayed here. Even with limited support, they continue to provide the campus with capable leadership, with informative and entertaining publications, and with groups organized purely for enjoyment. But with its effectiveness, the activity desires, rather than criticism, more student support.

The purpose of this section, then, is to present to the student body these organizations as they function in campus life. The long nights spent by the publications, the hours of practice used by the performing groups, the hours of decision and change contributed by the leadership organizations, and the development of programs which take the time of the students in activities of interest only to themselves, help to create an atmosphere of enjoyable participation on the campus.

Appreciation is hardly a word for what is felt for extracurriculars at Davidson, but a note of gratitude is certainly in order. On the following pages are found many areas where there is a true outlet of student expression.

. Student Government .

Nineteen fifty-eight was a year of judicial and legislative change for the Davidson College Student Government. With each member of this body striving objectively to investigate the Constitution, the Council presented several major amendments to the student body. This group strove to achieve a unity throughout the entire campus that would create a spirit conducive to upholding the Honor System. With this spirit also came a critical interest in student government that led numerous individuals to participate in the governmental machinery of Davidson College. Receiving most attention from the Council was the newly devised Honor Court. Under a Constitutional change, the judicial mechanics of government are given to this body while the legislative duties fall to the Student Council. Much deliberation and discussion revolved around this separation of functions; but after it solved numerous problems regarding the manner of election of the proposed court and of its trial procedure, the Student Council presented to the school a plan that was acceptable.

Several groups within the Council strove arduously to guide the student body through trouble areas of college life, and committees attempted to introduce beneficial changes. These changes varied from revisions of election procedures to a re-valuation of the Court of Control.

The foremost aim of the Council continued to be the upholding of the Honor System. This council expressed firmly its belief in the existing regulations and, through continual self-evaluation, endeavored to maintain the purity and effectiveness of the Honor System. Through the Council's alertness and individual interest, the heritage of the Davidson Honor System was passed on to the newly created Honor Court. It can be said that this group of men, the council members of 1958-59, bore judiciously the responsibilities of representing the student body. Constructive criticism was encouraged by the Council and was weighed in search of a more feasible governmental organization. Where change promised a more workable system of government, the council introduced amendments; where definite interpretation of existing regulations was needed, the council strove to formulate concrete and concise ideas. With the heritage of overwhelming tradition, this Student Council strove to perform the beneficial and needed duties for Davidson College.

1958-1959 was a year of critical re-evaluation for the Y.M.C.A., sparked by criticism from within and without.

A great part of the first semester was necessarily spent by the Cabinet in groping to lind its function as it has changed in the past years. As the second semester opened, the Cabinet members, with a term's experience under their belts, became fully oriented in their tasks, and the Y got its second wind and moved to more positive action.

Early in the new semester, the Cabinet resolved itself to do something about the chapel situation with the result that voluntary chapels were inaugurated on Mondays and Wednesdays. Further developments in this program hinged on student reaction and could possibly move to alleviate much of the dissatisfaction with the present compulsory religious program on the campus.

Winter Services, highlight of the religious emphasis program, spotlighted Dr. George Buttrick, eminent Harvard theologian. Dr. Buttrick's addresses were complemented by those of Dr. Davison Phillips of Decatur, Ga., and Dr. H. E. Russell of Memphis, Tenn. These gentlemen attacked "Student Barriers to Christian Faith" with a three-pronged jab at "Disinterest," "Complacency," and "Conformity."

Young Men's Christian

The Membership and Gift Fund drives were conducted with an emphasis on the quality of interest rather than impressive figures. It was hoped that the Y would comprise a body of perhaps fewer, but more intensely interested and dedicated workers rather than a large membership which it would be impossible or futile to try to employ in Y activities. An overwhelming student vote directed the Gift Fund to support young Negro churches and seminary students.

The incoming freshmen were first acquainted with Davidson via the Y's WILDCAT HANDBOOK, entirely revamped by editor George Ramsey. Freshman Adviser Tom Cutting conducted a program which provided throughout the year an opportunity for freshmen to discuss problems concerning their role in the life of the school.

Behind the scenes activities, known to few not directly involved in the operations, went on under the direction of the Deputations, Community work, and International Relations committees. The Social Work post provided dance weekend parties at Erwin Lodge and several exchange dates with girls' colleges.

Through the YMCA's activities and programs the student body has been encouraged to put its religious convictions into everyday living and to realize and understand the spiritual values of life.

Sam Clarke Cadet Commander

Seventy-one Davidson ROTC Cadets used a six weeks' stay at Fort Bragg to prove to the Army that their department is among the best in the nation.

Approximately two thousand cadets from thirtyseven colleges and universities throughout the eastern United States checked into the ROTC camp on Lt. Col. Adams escorts honorary Cadet Colonel Mrs. Linda Wilder through arch of swords at first annual military ball, held in the fall.

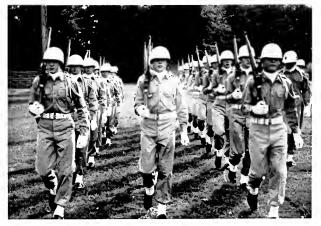

June 21. Six weeks later when the dust had cleared and the firing on the rifle range had subsided, Sam Clarke, a Davidson senior from Columbia, South Carolina, was selected as the outstanding cadet among the two thousand in camp. He had previously been selected as top man in his platoon and company.

Three other Davidson men took top honors in their companies. Pete Andrews, Tommy Morrison, and Sam McGuirt, along with Clarke, gave Davidson exactly one-third of the Camp honor men. Thirty-one Davidson cadets ranked in the top third of the training corps when hind evaluation reports were assessed. The Honor Guard led this year by Cadet First Lieutenant Bill Patton, again acted as the official representative of the Davidson ROTC Corps at parades, tootball games, and other public appear ances.

Colonel Keithly of the North Carolina Military District stated without reservation that the Davidson College ROTC Corps was the best in North Carolina. He said, "It has always been good; this year it is even better."

Lieutenant Colonel William L. Adams, PMS&T, stated in regard to the quality of the unit, "We don't stress quantity, but quality. Even this year, with a larger unit than last year, none of our cadet officers placed below the seventieth percentile in the National Officers' Qualification Course. Half of our men were in the upper seven per cent. With quality like that, we can't help but have a good unit."

Mrs. Linda Wilder was chosen to reign over the first ROTC Military Ball. Dancing to the music of Billy Knauff, junior and senior cadets and their dates initiated the annual affair. The dance was held on Saturday, November 22, in the ballroom of the Barringer Hotel in Charlotte.

The ROTC Department sponsored its annual ROTC Turkey Shoot in the basement of Belk Dormitory. It was the best turnout since it was started and was rated a tremendous success.

Major General Frank S. Bowen, Jr., commanding general of the XII Army Corps, conducted a routine inspection of the ROTC Department and cadet corps on Tuesday, December 9, 1958. He was briefed by the Brigade staff and then was conducted on a tour of the Davidson ROTC facilities.

Following the ground work that was laid last spring the corps of Davidson cadets was organized during the fall into two battle groups, an honor guard, and a band. Each battle group contains four companies with two platoons each, and a mortar battery of two platoons. The organization of the unit is based on the Army's new pentomic concept. This organization requires more command positions which fit right in with the enlarged senior cadet enrollment over previous years.

Empowered through an amendment to the student body constitution, the Court of Control administers justice to members of the freshman class who have been accused by upperclassmen of breaking the freshman regulations or timehonored school traditions. The Court of Control was established over thirty years ago to take the place of hazing of new students. The members of the Court, who receive their appointment from the student body president, depend upon the close support of the entire student population for success in their tenure of office.

Freshmen who have been accused of conduct unbecoming a Davidson gentleman are called before the student body at the end of chapel periods on alternate Fridays. Those indicted must appear for trial on the next Monday night in the College Union. The punishment which each receives depends on the seriousness of the offense, the attitude of the offender, and the number of times he has been before the Court. Punishments range from cleaning football shoes to restriction to campus. The Court attempts to show each freshman who is convicted why he is being punished and to instill in him a respect for Davidson tradition in order that he may fit into college life in the best possible way.

. Publications Board

OFFICERS

President Secretary Laurens Walker John Caldwell

In order to keep an official watch over the activities and policies, but chiefly the finances, of the three student publications, the Publications Board meets monthly to receive the reports of the business managers. Instituted by the Student Government and officially controlled by it, the Board is made up of the editors and business managers of the three student publications, the treasurer of the College, and a faculty representative chosen by the administration; only students are elected officers of the Board. Candidates for editorial positions are nominated by the Board following the recommendations of the individual staffs. Business managers are chosen by the Board itself and are more directly under its control.

The Board activities this year were conspicuous in their efforts to cut down on unnecessary expenses, and we hope that some of the new policies will be perpetuated. The members realize that it is often difficult to operate efficiently when in most cases there is little experience in the background—the student members are active for only one year. Moreover, the airing of grievances brings to the publications an element of unity and strength, a feeling of reliance on a body greater than the individual.

The Board was grateful for the generous but circumspect guidance of the College authorities. It is good to know that the College supports well the publications in finances, but especially in concept and in function. Mr. Currie, as new Business Manager of the College, was welcomed into the Board during the year. He was eager to learn along with us, as well as from us, and he showed the continued good faith of the administration in the operations of the Board and of its component publications.

John Milton had in mind a more whimsical subject than a college annual when he wrote "L'Allegro." However, Davidson's yearbook has borrowed its name from Milton's poem since the first QUIPS AND CRANKS was published in 1895. Since then it has appeared annually with interruptions only during the two war periods. This year's annual offers a presentation of activities with sections devoted to athletics, fraternities, both honorary and social, various campus organizations, administration and faculty, and classes.

It is our purpose simply to portray the life and the spirit at Davidson as we know it today. This portrayal is made possible by the editorial and business staffs, photographers, typists, runners, and readers whose eyes and minds have given us this cross section of campus life. The technical supervision of engraver and printer, combined with their sympathetic attitude, further enables us to present this record.

The process of compiling an annual is involved and often frustrating in the small college atmosphere where academic emphasis is paramount. It could be called a lesson in patience, self-control, and faith. Yet it is most rewarding to the few who take part intensively in the planning and production of an acceptable volume. Close association with photographs and copy during the year does not diminish the pleasure of viewing the finished work, for the reward of diligence is in the realization of accomplishment. In spite of the hours of work which go into a yearbook, perfection is impossible and is not claimed by the staff. We have made a sincere effort to create an artistic and somewhat different annual. yet at the same time conserving some of the traditional style of arrangement and inclusion.

It has been said that annuals vary with the disposition of the editor, the nose of the man who takes the pictures, and a hundred and one seemingly inconsequential factors. If this is true, then the 1959 Quips and Cranks is indeed unique. It is the hope of the entire staff that this issue will serve as a lasting reminder to the class of 1959 of their years at Davidson.

This year's DAVIDSONIAN has been like a man on horseback: whether it was St. George slaying the dragon, or Don Quixote tilting with windmills, is where opinion differs. Following last year's policy of saying what you think, we have been at various times editorially for or against practically everything of importance that has any connection with Davidson, as well as a number of things that don't. This journalistic brashness has been regarded by some as unseemly, by others as refreshing. In this spirit of this attitude is the remark by one member of the faculty that every week the DAVIDSONIAN was sounding more and more like the DAILY TAR HEEL: we will never be quite sure whether this was a compliment or an insult.

For better or for worse, however, the 1958-59 DAVfD-SONIAN has been a critical, reflective newspaper, devoted to exploring important issues, presenting the facts about them, and giving editorial opinions where they are needed. This critical function of the paper, above and beyond the routine of presenting a steady diet of news, sports, and features, proved to be the most difficult task faced by the staff. Having something to say does not necessarily mean that it will be said well. The qualities of imagination, foresight, and responsibility required for producing a newspaper that would have an intelligent editorial policy, provide a meaningful commentary on the main features of campus life, and yet remain balanced and keep things in their proper perspective, were supplied by Editor Laurens Walker. The remainder of the staff, both editorial and business, made up for what some of them lacked in experience. with enthusiasm and willingness to work that at times surprised even themselves.

Newspapers are a perishable commodity, and the only measure of success of a staff is whether their efforts have contributed anything to the attempts of their readers to understand and improve actions and attitudes. A mixture of success and failure is the best anyone can achieve. Just what proportion of each was present this year, must be left up to the judgment of those for whom the paper was written.

Bob Cole Editor

The time is three minutes to midnight, Cole's deadline. Cole is seated at his desk gazing placidly at his latest cartoon. He has at last managed to caricature the Chambermaids. The dome was no problem; he did it his freshman year. He turns to view his staff, trembling as this autocrat's harsh glare hits them. "When cometh another like him?" they cry over the campus.

He points an ink-smeared finger at a staff member, a notorious literary figure, and demands, "Where is your manuscript?"

The writer pleads for mercy. "But the Muse—she didn't talk to me!"

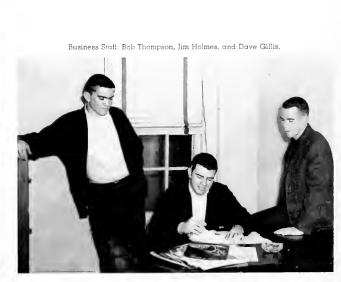

"To hell with the Muse! I want the manuscript! It was supposed to be a parody on getting a cheeseburger at the Union snack bar." Another member of the staff, a bit more temerarious, says, "But the DAVIDSONIAN has used that idea before."

Thus runs a meeting as the staff of SCRIPTS 'N PRANKS plans a magazine to satisfy the entertainment needs of the Davidson student body. There were times when the staff spent more time discussing ideas they knew darn well wouldn't get by the censors than they spent capturing some sprite or spirit, or whatever it is called, on paper. But it was fun, and somehow an issue always seemed to emerge from the chaos.

Various and sundry articles, coupled with "Chief" Cole's cartoons, have gone into the magazine to make it different and entertaining for a campus noted for its adamant refusal to be entertained readily.

First came The Wild One Handbook, distinguished by its alactity to thrust daggers, yea even swords, into at least one notable campus organization.

The Christmas issue, slightly more conservative in tone but still permeated by sarcasm, sent the Davidsonians and the staff home with the proper Christmas spirit.

Believing that in the spring a young man puts his mind on the finer pursuits of life, SCRIPTS 'N PRANKS issued a volume with contents back up to its old level of sword-play. But this time the magazine was tinged with rollicking mirth. Who knows what may appear next? Certainly the staff doesn't.

Eta Sigma Phi seeks to honor those students of Latin and Greek who, by their scholarship and appreciation of the classics, are considered worthy of membership. In the fall, those men were inducted into the fraternity who had met the necessary requirements. The Classical Club, which is sponsored by Eta Sigma Phi, is open to all students interested in the life and civilization of ancient Greece and Rome.

Through programs at its monthly meetings, presented by students, faculty members, and visitors, the club studies various aspects of ancient life, particularly of the language, literature, history, and art. Programs this year have included: a dramatic reading of the Lysistrata of Aristophanes; a presentation by Mr. Douglas Houchens of the characteristics of classical art and architecture, and their influence upon later schools; and a report by Mrs. Henry T. Lilly on Walter O'Briant Henry Otten Walter Clark Edward Wilson today's economic and political conditions in the Near East, as well as an account of the excavations being conducted now at ancient sites in Greece.

The year's activities closed with the traditional Roman banquet, which members and their dates attended in the authentic dress of the Greeks and Romans. The members ate the meal while reclining on couches in the manner of the ancients. This banquet was followed by entertainment which featured an original skit by Frater Carter Daniel satirizing Professors Bailey, Beaty, Labban, and McGeachy.

Through our year's activities, we feel that we have caught something of the spirit which guided these two great civilizations of the past. In those immortal words of the great Roman poet Gregorius Secundus, spoken while he was yet a student:

OFFICERS

This year brought a change in the overall administrative structure of the bands, a move which provided a more effective program in carrying out their activities. Under the musical direction of Mr. Frank West, the band personnel were divided into the Concert Band and the ROTC Band, with some members participating in both organizations.

The Concert Band, composed of about forty players, performs from a repertoire of symphonic band literature, giving three concerts during each school year and serving at special college functions and commencement. In the spring, the band takes a week-long tour. Previous tours have carried them to Georgia, Florida, and the Carolinas in the south, and as far north as New York. An exchange program has been inaugurated with certain other college Perrin Wright Arthur Lawrence Dave Edwards bands in the area which allows the combining of two bands in joint concerts at each of the schools.

The ROTC Band, composed of freshmen and sophomores from the basic Military Science classes, serves as the band for the ROTC cadet corps, and in this capacity plays at all military inspections and parades. This band also has functions which are not directly connected with the military aspect of the student body: it appears at all home football games and certain out-of-town games each season; at certain college ceremonies; and at basketball games, for which only a small unit is used. In addition, the ROTC Band performs at any student gathering for which march music is needed.

The bands provide an outlet for much of Davidson's musical talent, and at the same time serve the administration and student body of the college.

This year the Male Chorus was chosen to perform in a new medium of musical endeavor—the opera. Many long hours of rehearsing and staging proved to be quite rewarding as the curtain went up on the Charlotte Opera Society's first presentation of the year, Carmen. Freshman Bill Workman, a baritone and a member of the chorus, was selected to take one of the principal parts. In the spring semester the chorus collaborated with the Queens College Chorus to perform a concert opera, Dido and Aeneas. The highlight of the year was, as always, the spring tour, this year engaging concerts in Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Michigan. Other performances included joint concerts with Hollins and Mary Baldwin Colleges and an appearance on WBTV in Charlotte. The musicianship of the chorus has been characterized by a combination of the best in male chorus repertoire and flexibility of style, color, and performance. Extensive progress has been made on the "Davidson College Male Chorus Series," which is a publication that acquaints the interested audience with the various types of music performed.

Style, color, and performance, however, must be channeled, integrated, and woven in order to produce the unique quality of sound inherent in the Male Chorus. This is accomplished most ably, and, at times, most patiently, by Director Donald Plott. Through his jovial personality and personal interest in each member of the Chorus, Director Plott draws from the group as a whole the respect and attention so necessary for professional performances of choral music.

The membership of the Business-Economics Association is composed of those upperclassmen in the departments of Economics and Business Administration and others who are interested in developing their knowledge in these areas. The purpose of the organization is to promote the interest of the student in the fields of higher intellectual attainment, to give him a broader knowledge in the varied aspects of the world today, and to create a closer student-faculty relationship. The Association attempts to provide a series of interesting and informative programs throughout the school year, each given by a person in a specialized field.

The structure of the Association is that of a corporation. The ten man Board of Directors, assisted by the faculty adviser, Dr. Ratliff, meets periodically to plan and guide the business and activities of the organization.

Throughout the school year we had the opportunity to hear many interesting talks on a wide range of subjects. Mr. James Currie, Commissioner of Revenue of North Carolina, was the first speaker of the fall term. During the fall, we had the pleasure of hearing a student, Mr. Woody Morcock, speak on his experiences with the Ford Motor Company and Mr. Wilbur Bryant of Charlotte, who spoke on time and motion study. The speakers for the Spring term included Mr. Harry Golden, noted editor and author, and Dr. Robert Montgomery, professor of economics at the University of Texas. The year was highlighted in May with a banquet at which we welcomed a former instructor, Professor Russell Brown of Lenoir Rhyne College, as the principal speaker. The Red and Black Masquers is an organization devoted to the support of dramatics and the performance of plays on the Davidson campus. The members of this group manifest their talents in various areas such as acting, directing, set design, backstage work, and business management. Professor R. W. Tyson, faculty adviser, aids in the solection and direction of the plays.

This year the Masquers presented three plays. The fall production, "Ghosts" by Henrik Ibsen, was the most successful attempt at serious drama done by the Masquers in recent years. At Midwinters "Room Service," by Murray and Boreyz, provided light entertainment for the festive occasion. In the spring "Twelve Angry Men," by Reginald Rose, was presented on the campus and taken on a tour through Virginia. During the first semester this group, along with Sigma Upsilon, sponsored a play-writing contest. This contest was held for the purpose of developing interest in creative drama.

For students who demonstrate outstanding ability in the Red and Black Masquers program, there is an honorary dramatics traternity, Alpha Psi Omega. Alpha Psi Omega works closely with the Masquers, and as an honorary fraternity serves to reward those who have shown talent and effort in the field of drama.

Through these two organizations, the Red and Black Masquers and Alpha Psi Omega, the students gain dramatic insights and learn the theatre arts.

> Beginning with Rush Week in the new Patterson Fraternity Court and ending with Spring Frolics dance weekend, the work of the 1958-59 Interfraternity Council, under the capable leadership of Vernon Anderson, went through a time of tradition, trial, and change.

> Rush Week, for the first time, was carried out during orientation period, before the cares of the classroom could stymie the smooth tongues of the campus rushers. As a result, 233 new Greek letter men were added to the throng of Patterson Court.

> One of the orchestras of Lester Lanin supplied the music for the Homecoming dances. Fortunately, no flu epidemic hit the campus before Homecoming, and the dance week-end was carried out as planned.

The Four Fourier numericated the vertices and ratendar Versative performers Piss Part or Pol Flancian. Dis Part or and Ken Alters demonstrated their showmanship as well as their musical talent.

It was the performers rather than the participants who gave the IFC a hard time this year. The Four Freshmen booked to appear in a concert on Saturday afternoon of Midwinters, were flooded out by one of Davidson's well-known "monsoons" and never made it to the campus until Saturday might. However they stole the show at the informal dance as the gym floor samed under the weight of an enthusiastic crowd of Davidson students and their dates. Billy May's band under the direction of Frankie Lester supplied the rest of the music for the dance week-end.

A similar incident occurred later in the year when the Kingston Trio failed to appear to a sell-out crowd because of the illness of one of its members, Dave Guard. Only after many rounds of long distance calls and hair pulling was the Council able to reschedule the concert for a later date. The Trio appeared and were a howling success to a packed Chambers Auditorium.

One bit change in the traditional program of the IFC was the abolition of Hell Week and the substitution of Greek Week in its place. However, the cooperation of the 12 fraternities made plans for Greek Week run smoothly. Each pledge class was given duties of a constructive nature to carry out. Projects ranged from digging ditches at Banum Springs Orphanage to planting grass on the new court.

Finally, the social program of the Interfraternity Council was ended with Spring Frolics and the orchestra of Duke Ellington. The officers and members carried a full load of responsibility and work during the year, but it was only with the cooperation of 12 Greek-letter fraternities that plans were accomplished to their fullest extent.

Curids and nearts prevailed in deforations as Mawinters minoided with Valentine weekend.

N. C. EPSILON OMEGA CHAPTER

ESTABLISHED 1950

With the coming of September, the Taus came marching back to campus to begin a year that was to prove both profitable and unique. Dick Smith I's house committee had worked diligently during the summer and our new house was nearly ready for Rush Week. Mayfield began his Machine the minute we arrived on campus and before we had a chance to unpack, we found ourselves busily preparing for Rush Week.

At the parties, we roared with the rushees at Maxwell's jokes (and jabs), and we realized anew what the fraternity really meant to us when we heard Gilbert's talk. On pledging day, one came . . . then another . . . and we thought they'd never stop! By five o'clock, we had twenty-seven freshmen eager to become Taus.

As enthusiastic as any of the brothers in greeting the pledges was our new housemother, "Miss Josie" Stewart. Whether preparing dishes to tickle the brothers' palates, mending pledges' pants, or serving as a fourth at bridge, Miss Josie became truly the First Lady of Epsilon Omega.

Initiating our social year was a party for the pledges, as brothers and pledges wooed the wenches from Queens.

Roy Gilbert, President

President Vice-President Secretary Treasurer Roy Gilbert Ed Stevens Pete Kellogg Ed Lewis

Lewis and Patton made another valiant effort to capture the yet elusive flickerball championship. Homecoming was soon upon us. Brubaker's tireless efforts on Times Square paid off in a second place in the Homecoming decorations contest.

After the girls left, Chapman and DuPuis returned to lab and their cats, and Murphey continued his cops and robbers game with the State Patrol. Alas, fate was not with him. Chuck journeyed to Alabama, had a little accident, and they're still throwing it up at him. Meanwhile the brothers trecked to Charlotte to see Miss Josie's black eye and broken arms. The pledges invited Tiger Patton to a scenic tour of Cornelius and two cigarettes.

Overall's Bobbie reigned over a "rive gauche" extravaganza at the Monroe Country Club as Taus became "Beatnicks" for their fall function.

A visit from the Barium Springs orphans ushered in the Christmas season, but gathering around to watch the happiness of the children as they opened their presents was not without its mishaps. Misle forgot and sang the carols in Spanish, and Santa patted Samuels on the head and wished him Merry Christmas.

Sloan's marriage during the Christmas holidays deprived a few of rides to Salem, but his VW never held many anyway.

Exams hit us much too soon, but it didn't bother Stevens, whose dating schedule was never interrupted.

With the beginning of second semester, "Commodore" Long, under the patient guidance of Brother Gilbert, began his social reform—coffee anyone? The "gross" table, headed by Walter, drafted the "cruder" pledges and continued to abide by Emily Post. Smyth dumped food on everybody but his "speed" didn't suffer.

Mitchem sparked the basketball team, hitting everything but the basket. With Mid-Winters came the Four Freshmen, the pledge skit and the ATOTL award to Gilbert.

Help Week put the finishing touches on the new Taus. Pledges and brothers traveled to Barium Springs for three afternoons of dirt and sweat, and fellowship. And then came Spring Frolics, the White Tea Rose Ball, and, finally, Commencement and the end of another good year.

"On the Beach"—Rutherford is champ and Riggs tries new 30-second sand diet.

With the coming of September, frivolity fled and attention was focused on Avinger as Rush Week rolled around once more. Twenty-one neophytes "passed the loving cup around" in our first pledging ceremony in the new house. They were soon to evince signs of greatness.

After a brief period of scholastic attainment, Homecoming and the Centennial celebration broke the tedium. Phi Alpha's 100th year was honored by a visit from A. J. G. Priest, former National fraternity president and friend.

The Red Fez was lost forever as Social Chairman Riggs led the after dance "figure." Social lile remained a Beta keynote and the Centennial weekend ended as books were grudgingly taken from their resting places.

The soccer field abounded with Betas, as brothers Johnson, McKeithen, Irvin, Keiter, Clarke, and Farabow backed up Captain Gordon Neville.

One hour earlier, on Tuesday afternoons, the ROTC drill ground reverberated with the booming commands of "Commander" Clarke, the Cadet Corps' Commissar Hero.

Armstrong and Turner returned to give life to the flickerball team. Turner, fresh from his extinguishing of the Eternal Flame in Paris (How?).

Christmas came, along with the traditional Barium Springs party. The brothers were captivated, even though Jolly St. Nick would allow no whistling.

After an all-too-brief respite, exams descended and panic was the watchword. Emerging unscathed from their ordeal, the brothers planned forays into the wilds of Virginia and other such exotic locales, where emotional outlets were plentiful.

Hardly had the "spring" term begun when Midwinters came and went, but not without incident. Friday night's "Beat Party"... "help him up, Bob" ... Scott's and Shoffner's beards, etc. Saturday night it was "Oh, my soul"... "don't fall, Frankie"... and "look at that girl dance."

Gee and Irvin flexed on the wrestling mat as Fred Lane led the scoring in Interfraternity basketball.

With the ides of March came initiation and the culmination of Sam's efforts—twenty-one proud new wearers of the diamond and three stars. Spring came with all its fringe benefits—Frolics, Spring Function, "studying" at the river, exams, graduation.

Many things come to mind when thinking back over Phi Alpha's hundredth year:— the "Princeton" tennis team's tour of South Carolina . . . C. C. Rider and the Atlanta safari . . . our new housemother, Mrs. Camp . . . "O Mighty Massey, of ever honored memory" . . . Rat forsakes Coker for the Continent . . . "Twig" and his "bills are due today" bit . . . the Pharaoh's fall-bridge and cigarettes . . the interminable hearts games and the resultant hot seats . . . Tenney is still the pretitest boy in Quincy . . . Fred, Frankie, and Scott—"button, button, who's got the button?" . . . the metamorphosis after graduation as robes were quickly shed and bathing suits and sun glasses became part of the frenzied dash for Ocean Drive . . . and so ended another year in Phi Alpha, a glorious one we all admit.

Our heartfelt thanks for an admirable tour of duty go to Laurens Walker, our president, who always managed to keep the peace.

It was a big year for the K.A.'s. Seniors reluctantly watched these last pleasant or unpleasant moments slip by and juniors, sophomores, and pledges, looking ahead, discovered a growing pride in the fraternity.

It was a staunch and faithful crew who launched our good ship in the fall. Forty-two K.A.'s returned to work on the new house and plan strategy, and a true course has been navigated since that September day when we all shook the sands of Europe, Myrtle Beach, Fort Bragg, et al, from our white bucks.

Rush Chairman Marshall Dunaway master-minded a highly successful Rush Week. Vice-President Howard Persinger as pledge trainer was soon to have 25 additional "Southern Gentlemen" under his wing. This meant the annual pledge program including shoe-shining, stud-running, keeping the new house in shape, or just about anything. The pledges were led by Goat Chief George Trask whose big brother was to return in January.

Mrs. Little impressed us with her meals even though the waiters showed a tendency to be insolent at times. Judge Nix reigned over the freshman class as well as the mess hall. The dining room was a considerable improvement over the Combine, and the brothers and professors (once a week) enjoyed the new atmosphere.

The Homecoming after-dance parties got social chairman Walter Edwards off to a good start . . . Brother Lathan captured a Phi Bete key in the early fall . . . Money-mad Bill Purks found new dictatorial powers in his Treasurer's post and, along with sharpies Austin and Reddoch, was constantly on the lookout for fresh "fresh fish" . . . "Frontis" Aldridge amazed us with his knowledge of history . . Brother Loftin continued to represent us in the Male Chorus.

"Red" Ferguson, after a year's layoff, returned to the Wildcat basketeers along with Messrs. Stewart, Wilder and Redmond. The loss of the fraternity, led by Fred Streetman through a season of ups and downs, was the varsity's gain.

As winter rolled around, Jim Allen continued to win on the wrestling mats, Green and West were leading the way in the interfraternity handball, and the rifle team, with brothers Pickard, Ruggles, Weam, and Gaines being the "top guns," was completely dominated by the K.A.'s.

Magnolias grace the KA's lawn, adding a touch of the deep South.

After a gala Midwinters weekend and the Four Freshmen, Brother Anderson had his beard ready, but, alas, we could not "officially" attend Old South. However, Spring Frolics, the annual Rose Ball, and "unofficial" visits to nearby Old Souths compensated for the slight deterrent in our social season.

When the first "Greek Week" was over, the initiation was held and the brotherhood was increased to seventy strong. Those myriad lazy spring afternoons on the sands of the Catawba and the weekends, when the Roadrunners toured a dozen states, brought down the curtain on our recreational stage and made lite seem worthwhile.

Examinations, graduation, and the beach party were soon to complete another red-letter chapter in the archives of the 'Grand Old Gang.'' All these, and many more, are our remembrances of the year. The parties and the plans, the happiness and the work—this was the year '58-'59. Time will widen our paths, but will never dim our memories of Kappa Alpha.

After a summer of beach blasts and Bragg, we all returned to school, including Curly after Bobo left him to fight in Lebanon. Crouch came back without the forward look, which sent Taylor in hot pursuit of his physician.

Sandy brought in quality and quantity at the end of Rush Week and Lawing, Puckett and Quantz did the taming. We experienced another successful Parent's Day headed by Mick and McNeill. T-Bone became quite attached to the campus. On Saturday afternoons, Barbee, Wall, Warden, McCullough and Chug did the high steppin' while James, Biggers, Porter, Bynum, Bloomfield, and Glass bolstered the forward wall; and Grey was always there with a wet towel.

Three rounds of stogies were passed out as Wynne, Spook and B.K. vowed away the Star and Crescent. In honor of our pledges, the Black and White was held at the Charlotte City Club. Everyone there had the claus except Emcee Heeseman. The sweetheart was announced, and as usual, Sparky just couldn't sit still. The flickerball championship was ours with

Craig Wall, President

Curly and Sam Henry leading us all the way. The pledges set the brothers up to "refreshments" after bowing out in a post season flickerball challenge.

Wonderburke set a new record for the most trips to Salem in three weeks. Jim (Square Deal) Patterson got the complete program in a bowl of chili sauce while C.J., with a kind word for everybody, extended his congratulations to the entire kitchen staff for another fine meal. With the able assistance of Cook, Funderburke, Street and pledges, we took the wrestling crown; but in doing so, by some strange quirk of fate, the myth concerning the invulnerability of "Jr." was destroyed forever. Johnston, Sutt and Kelly didn't have to save R.D. III a place at the bridge tables . . . no one else could ect in  $3\frac{1}{2}$  minutes.

Henderson, McGuirt, Morrison and Sloan were the big guns in the military program. Big Jim ran the boarding house very well on the money that Price divided between the food and a '55 Ford. Sloan tripped the light fantastic at the famous Carrousel Bail in Charlotte. LaFar lost his program-selling loot to Davis on the ping pong tables. Married life seems to be agreeing with I.L., as he led the swimming team to a highly successful year.

Christmas came and with it came Biggers and his hula-hoop contest for the Barium Springs orphans. Ted and Joanne's eight pound sweetheart added to the joy of the season. The number of pledges and brothers were both decreased by one during the holidays as Pete and Booker fell from the ranks of free men.

Lewis returned with a nice shiner from Fancy Dress where it was reported that the Little Czar was caught rockin' and rollin'. Cochise traded in his tomahawk for a kite. Craig and Judith announced some big plans during Midwinters, and, as usual, Kizer got a date the day before. The Conclave and the Frolicking at Harris Lake closed the door for another year at the Kappa Sigma house, but up over that door is written:

> Happy were we met, Happy have we been, Happy did we part, And shall happy meet again.

September found the men of the good ship Phi ready to sign another grand year into the log. There were the Seniors, who, though saddled with responsibilities around the campus, still found time to contribute to the fellowship of the Bond. There were the Juniors, who were big in heart and desire to keep things rolling. There were the Sophomores, who contributed eagerly, willing to do what was necessary.

Returns from the Asheville General Convention included a gold star certificate indicating a ranking in the national fraternity's top ten per cent, as well as high ranking in Spiritual Life and Community Service competition. Our scholarship ranking was good enough to place us on the Phi Delta Theta honor roll.

Fraternity life took on a new look in the new house, thanks to splendid facilities, and a welcome new air of civility settled into most of our meals with the presence of "Mother" Payne, a perfectionist only in trying to make us happy.

Mr. Mintz and John Huie proved during Rush Week that their prowess waan't limited to the basketball court, and they managed to haul in the majority of the frosh hoop stars among another band of Phikeias in the same top-notch tradition. The freshmen showed their stuff early; five gained seats on the Freshman Council, and all three officers were Owlets.

John Poindexter headed the effort as we tried the hardest ever to retain the athletic trophy, so that we might make it a permanent fixture. Rameses took care of the legal aspects, such as authenticating lodge cards at the track meet. Basketball was the Phi-dominated sport. Five starters on the varsity, three on the freshman squad, and enough left over to win a tie for the interfraternity title.

Brantley masterminded a successful Alumni-Parents weekend, headlining General Councilman Sam McKenzie. Mrs. Payne took care of the mothers, putting them to work in a Mother's Club, and by February they had secured a piano for the house.

And there was Phi leadership in student government, YMCA, ROTC . . . Letus, Lineman of the Week . . . a steady stream of Phis to the stage of Chambers auditorium in regular relief of Kuykendoyle, the People's Choice . . . Pauly Erckman edits the best scrapbook yet . . . McBryde and Lamm bare before the jury . . . record-setting Shifty Smith heats Davidson waters . . . Kraut pushes for on-campus parties . . . Brown and Kuyk pledge Phi Beta Kappa . . . FIVE in Who's Who??? . . . Sabe goes wild, drives to breaktast . . . Woodmansee gets stranded in Charlotte—two nights in a row . . . and one more time, for Slim—"Keep on the sunny side . . ."

It will be a different fraternity next year, but somehow it will be the same. There will still be "Phi Delta Theta for Aye" sung again and again; the trial will continue to be exposure of the pinned; the fellowship of Phi Bete and three-semester pledge, of athlete and lover, of preacher and playboy will still be found here. Twenty-six faces will enter the Phi alumni files, but the names will be forever on the Bond.

Phis roll out the gold carpet for teminine charm on donce weekend.

The summer began with the cool sea breeze carrying away the melodious voice of E. Carpenter across the dunes. Due to crowded conditions, Truman resides in the pantry-Ten-Four. Shaking the sand out of our shoes, some of the weary relaxed at Fort Bragg while others entertained the capitalistic sweet shops. The academic aesthetes, P. D., Molly's Boy, and Moe Man, welcomed K. P. Kelly and Criddle back for Davidson's summer pleasantries.

The Fiji men moved out of the "Fish Bowl" into the house that Joe built to prepare for the winter campaigns. Ma Spangler's culinary artistry breaks Waller's reducing plans. Sanders conducts a successful rush campaign bringing the best of '62 into the fold.

Things are set in order and Happy Hour Poag is elected president of the TV Club at its first formal meeting. The world series proves the Braves aren't what makes Milwaukee famous. Diaz, "What ees thees bezball?"

Simp, Smith, and Rodan keep the Cats' ground attack rolling while Danny picks the pigskin from the air. Homecoming sees the cattle car from Queens pull in. The Fiji Combo puts Lester Lanin in the shade. Elder and companion entertain at Hattie's Cabin, and Manning received a mud pack at Harwood Lake.

The Bopper and the boys turn bad and conduct maneuvers at various female institutes. (Pate goes along for the ride.) Bremer sets up headquarters at G. C. Charlie Engh trades car, gets wife. Ray Miller falls in lovel P. J. opens up his Duke art gallery to the public. Dave Hall rides again.

Barium Springs sends the Fiji's "a dozen angels" for an old fashioned Christmas. Jim Smith has "Sid" down for lunch. The pledge banquet ends in complete success as Goose and the neophytes mumble through a few grossities (Schaum, "Dearie Me!"). David Ovens graces the head table.

Exams take their toll but Toumaras manages to scrape by. Bear loses his grip on Mooresville. Bubbles recruits the brave for New Orleans and the Mardi Gras. (P. D. scores in Pat O'Brien's.)

Midwinters saw more girls in the house of Earn-hardt, the Earl of Belkshire's, "Twinkle Toes" Stamey trips the light fantastic. Boyd Wilson plays old alumnus made good and brings Ann down. Hull. "That's no pig, that's Tom's sister."

After disaster in flickerball, the Fijis pace the basketball season as the Zoo man gets hot. Charlie Pat breaks his arm and almost gets traded. Gene gets himself a new girl friend, Stella, who makes a hit all over the campus. Carolina gives in to Ridenhour's begging and loses to State.

Greek Week arrived, and as usual heads were peeled and sweat rolled as the pledges developed the art of landscaping. Initiation later in the spring increased the might of the Fiji fold to well over sixty.

Thus it was in the reign of King Long. A new house, but the same spirit. What would the year have been without Bremer and the boys in Organic, Andrews and Susie at the House and Harper and Winthrop. Through the noise and dust Hagan roars on.

Though the wise seniors leave, the Fijis will continue in the same spirit and fellowship. Next year waiters will still be lazy and bills still unpaid, but memories unforgotten.

Ever since 1869 Pikas have returned to Davidson each September to start anew their journey up the road (of life, that is). This year the Pikas came from all over the world. Hodel from Ft. Bragg; Nick from his new home in "Gees Youse Guys," New Jersey; Freeman from old Cape Cod; but mostly we came from home. Everyone was sad to hear that H. C. had given up the ghost and partially in his memory we burned books in front of our new house until 4  $\alpha$ . m. It was about this time that Jeff became Jiff, and Morrison became Miser.

The first thing on our agenda was to break up the "deep twelve." This done, we turned all our attention to Rush Week. And what a Rush Week. Stone, K. W., and Lohman present their own production of "Freddy Freshman" (no connection to Fruddy); Fisk Boy pledges Pika; Turner and A. T. lose their pins.

Before we had a chance to start the study wheels turning, Homecoming was upon us and a count-off on the pledges. With pledge labor, we constructed the cleanest decoration on campus. "Pbwhop" and we were off to the parties, and this semester Warr could go too. Even Lew had a date.

Dick Hodel, President

Cliff: "What's the name of this game, thumper!" And at Sherrill's: "Give me that old Pika spirit." Due to Triplett's upstanding ailment, he decided to sit out the remainder of the semester (on a cushion, that is).

Once more we attempted to study, but to no avail. Atchison was the first to forsake the books. He got pinned. Then everyone stopped studying to prepare for the Shipwreck Party: motel troubles; pledge skit "Effort Pika, Effort"; and Stettler's broken foot. The next day three went out and two came back—much to everyone's delight.

Still no time for study. The holiday spirit of Christmas could not be ignored. Our Brother-Pledge Christmas Party with Mullen's Maidenform, A. T.'s girdle, and the carol sing at Queens afterwards. The K O's finally got their owl back. Then wham, exams. Now we somehow found time for a little study. Beckman decided to take a semester abroad at Queens.

Midwinters arrives and study takes a back seat once more. Kennedy, Dickens, Mullen, and Landis lost their pins; Grantham and Thomas receive theirs; Hodel gets his back and Couch just keeps his. Hendry blind-dates another winner, and Lover Wells keeps his title. Another count-off; it went until three o'clock, and even McCarty gave the pledges a little "heck."

Our Founders Day celebration was a big success with Brother Smythe and Dr. Patterson as guests of honor. Then came Hell Week.

Atchison and Allen led the pledges through this time of trials and tribulations. Almost before the notches could be worked off, Spring Frolics and Dream Girl arrived and Honey's catered to the Pikas again, and once again exams.

The year passed quickly, and no wonder. There was never a dull moment with five or six wanting to play bridge—never just four. Gladstone's vest, Vaughan's camera, Mickey's records . . The list is endless and so are the memories.

In response to numerous and impassioned pleas, the wielder of the Vitriolic Pen resumes his message, and recalls yet another year, a Pi Kapp year. It looked like it was going to be a catastrophic year, one of realized eschatology: two-and-a-half months passed before the first small rain fell. But we, the loose-hanging ones of Pi Kappa Phi, girded up our loins, and strode forth to do battle with all the exigencies of college and fraternal life.

September is a hot month, marinated hither and thither with clashing (and splashing) personalities, but here and there protruded a few bright splotches. We all had our heroes: Darb "Possum" Cannon worshipped at the slightly damp shrine of Dr. Monaghan, "Sparks" Grant honored the mysterious voice from Pantagonia, and "Bull" Bishop continued his obeisance at the shrine of the Golden Guernsey. We all had our minor tragedies. From them we lived and learned: Never trust a Mississippi Miss; never take a ride with Nash; never, never mention ham in Davidson, particularly on Friday.

There were moments of glory: Swaim and cigar stole the "Room Service" show. Dickson, Rudisill, Chandler, and Escue proved Barnum right: "There's one born every minute." Even so, Honorable Archon "got his poker out of the fire before it got burnt!" And then Professor Herlong, the Inebriated IBM machine, got Phi Bete, and hung over, all in the same week.

Turnovers of all kinds at the boarding house: trays, food, and kitchen help. Turnovers outside: Fordham turning 85 on the highway to the merry tune of the state's cash registers. The pledges turned the brothers over and gave them what for at the Founder's Day Ball: more brothers consigned to the Other Place that night than any time since 1912.

We took time to honor our great men of the past, our noble heritage (and their money). Then business proceeded as usual: Lide got a wild hair (wild as his pitching) and heisted a steamroller. 'Twas a merry day, indeed, since it got out of control and destroyed all of Watts' buried caches of goodies before it halted. Pity.

There were times of noble resolve: Yarbrough steadfastly refusing (for the 476th time) to give up his jools. Chin up! (Don't give up, Marilyn!) Stowell, the illiterate literary genius, takes over for Shaw Smooth, opens den of iniquity under "Beat" poetryreading-room front. Rumor has it that something called "Near-beer" sold. Shame, shame. There were the Sunday ayem trips, some to Johnsie's for tomato juice, others to DCPC for spiritual food, others merely down the hall. Those of "Four-wheel Drive" Roberson, using his contraband jeep to pull brothers' cars out of the mud in Johnsie's pasture.

We owed a debt of gratitude, and herewith pay it, to our long-suffering, under-paid, over-worked, prodigiously burdened, and delightfully amazing faculty brothers, especially Drs. Purcell and Ratliff. We lived in awe of the accomplishments of James, and, well just in awe of Charlie. They both have beautiful wives.

Pi Kapps were esterially heered by new Court plans, due to the Jurning last year of their former residence.

With the advent of September, as has been the case, we are certain, since 1883, Minerva's Faithful migrated once again to their home away from home. The brothers spent their first hours together swapping stories which recalled pleasant memories of summer's deeds and misdeeds; purple tainted dreams of Wooly-burger and the Knot Hole Gang, ROTC camp, and Cotton Balls, to mention a few of the more prominent tales that went the rounds.

On and on the list might go, recalling memories of SAE as we knew it in 1958-1959. But it would be pointless, for the entire kaleidoscope of individuals that made up our brotherhood has been duly represented. Many persons have attempted to capture the essence of fraternity in words, but they all fail, for fraternity means a different thing to each individual. We who are leaving this year after spending four or more years with SAE at Davidson know, however, that our lives have been fuller, richer, and more significant because of the friendships that we have made in the bonds of fraternity. One cannot forget four years spent in work and play, and yes, at times even tears, with sixty men who call you Brother. No, we will never forget.

The summer for many of us was the last one. O. J. took charge of the beach party. We even had chaperones; two old ladies downstairs were more concerned with keeping the White Cross pure than we were. After the sin and the surf at Pawley's Island came loating, Fort Bragg, work, and summer school. "Wild Bill" Huntley finally graduated.

In September, the Sigs moved into a brand-new fraternity house, decorated in the finest manner to give it that casual, lived-in appearance. Genteel Mrs. Zemp was introduced as our new Housemother; she brought back fond memories of leaving Mrs. Henderson. A new trophy had been added to our collection. It represented the highest academic average in the Province.

Consul Cline and Rush Chairman Burgdorf led us through a successful Rush Week. The strained atmosphere and talk of high ideals was eased by all night Fraternity meetings and trips down to the Beta house. Sigma Chi finished Rush Week with a melange of jocks and scholars, boys with silver tongues and boys with coarse tongues. The ideal of Fraternity in diversity was preserved. It was the best pledge class ever—so said the pledges.

Lach Zemp and Joe Cline, Presidents

Finishing touches were put on the Fraternity house. We got a new lawn and sidewalks which didn't fit the lawn. Lured by Frank Weaver and pushed by "Ears" McDevitt, the Chapter bought a stereo system. Three months later we had saved enough money to put a ceiling in the basement.

The winter social whirl began under the auspices of IFC president Vernon Anderson. First came Homecoming, then the Fall Function (a "Hobo" party). These events provided us with our first opportunity to really show off Patterson Fraternity Court—the new Fraternity Court for the modern-day Fraternity Man.

The Barium Springs kids came down and showed us once again what sheltered lives we led. "Frog" Cole, carrying on a years-old tradition of apostolic succession, edited the SCRIPTS 'N PRANKS. No one will ever know why he wasn't sued for the Christmas issue. December also brought elections. Zemp deposed Cline as Consul; the worthy Dabbs was reelected secretary; the Sports Manager, Harry "Shark" Shaw, showered wrath on our heads for our apathy.

Over Christmas five boys became engaged. Exams brought a little rain into our lives; we were no longer first in the Province. But the spirit lived on despite work and women. Lach was now a free man, and freedom went to his head. Johnny Bennett became engaged. Midwinters brought Billy May and the Four Freshmen.

The Sigs were ably represented in baseball, as they had been in football, wrestling, basketball, swimming, track, and tennis. Greek Week came and went, and 15 pledges were initiated into the Fraternity.

Springtime came to Davidson. "Toad" Holmes led tapping ceremonies for "Sons of Ben" and for "Who's Nothing." The river beckoned. Life slowed to the tempo of that lazy, dirty Catawba. Spring Frolics and Derby Day and the Sweetheart Ball broke into our idyllic life.

Graduation approached. Underclassmen grew sentimental, though seniors were ready to get the hell out. The year had been good. It was more than another year at Davidson; it was a year in Sigma Chi.

Walter O'Briant, President

We started off the year by getting thirty-one pledges, more than any other Iraternity on campus, thanks to Gippy's gab, Aunt "B" 's punch, Tony's reading, and the financial status given by Felix.

Homecoming came, and with it a display that no one quite caught on to until Addison explained. Those were early hours when the freshmen had to go down to clean up the house. Gil was initiated into the strange ways of social behavior.

When the bloodmobile drove around to the gym, we were the first ones down to make them welcome. Everyone bled so magnificently that we won the bloody trophy. In the early part of December we all gathered down at the Charlotte City Club for the fall function. The golden pineapples were eaten by some of the Union-starved Novices. At last it was time for the Christmas holidays, and several of the old line held a little party to ease the pain of leaving old Davidson.

We came back just in time to hit exams. It turned out that some should have majored in bridge. However, we came out with the third highest academic average and two Phi Beta Kappa keys. The semester was over and everyone was off for a few dabauched days.

Mid-winters started on Friday, the thirteenth of February. It was this same weekend that Boland and Baldwin lost their pins in the basement scramble. Everybody got sick on the cheap cigars they handed out. Bross turned "beat" on us and spent Sunday of dance weekend out under a tree reading pcetry. On the last weekend in February we all went up to W. C. U. N. C. to serenade the two girls who were pinned.

Anybody remember Miss Molly McCotter? ... Don't fondle the pillows ... Has anybody seen my gallon of champagne?... The icy fangs of the Novice class ... Did YOU do anything unusual during Midwinters ... Somebody's favorite color must be red ... Could you lend a poor boy something to wear ... Anybody care for a game of perverted hearts? ... See Frank Crawford for French dates whose fathers own wine vineyards ... Adolph, whom did you date homecoming? ... What about the Little Dutch Boy that put his finger in the dike ... Morrisett broke the cross-country record to Greensboro when he wasn't tending the flock ... Burwell's passion wagon kept the Law busy on Thunder-Road ... "Smile," Blake ... Fearless Fonda's facial foliage was eventually harvested ... Uncle Walt let loose of the gavel long enough to head South on occasions ... Art breezed through the "Big O" ... Kernan

N. C. EPSILON CHAPTER

ESTABLISHED 1930

President Vice-President Secretary Treasurer Jim Williams Bruce Brooks Jere Starling Louis Fogleman

The cottage at Myrtle Beach overflowed with Sig Eps from Davidson as they gathered for one last fling before summer dispersal: some to Europe and Puerto Rico, some to Washington and San Francisco, some to marriage and connubial bliss, and some right back to Davidson. Love, Allan, Cooke, and Fogleman, with the ever-present Plyler, undertook the pleasurable task of making the new quarters livable. White and gold, green and red, with tapestries and shields, they converted a little lodge on Patterson Court to a retreat for the Brotherhood of the Red Door. Our new housemother, Mrs. Gresley, added a feminine touch of dignity at meals as we relearned our table manners.

To this abode came the gaping freshmen, with The Fabulous Fiver returning as neophytes to grace our tables. The Pecan Grove received us for a rolicking pledge celebration, complete with the Queens Circle Contributions. Added to our ranks also were the better halves of J. J. Williams and Gattis, as they took the long walk down Cupid's aisle.

The fall proved profitable for the Sig Eps as Brooks, Starling, and Nye headed Eumenean, and Kemmerer, The Tragic Muse, led the Masquers. St. Clair exhibited his pre-medical tendencies in AED, cnd the Germanophile Pease became a Delta Phi Alpha. Later on, Dewhurst and Williams II entered the ranks of the Quixotes in Sigma Delta Pi, and McFadyen exercised his Blue Pencil with Sigma Upsilon.

The night before Christmas vacation found the Sig Eps partaking of Baccus in a nearby city; and in January, Belmont greeted us, however informally, for a belated fall function, expanded to include breakfast, no less.

Exams brought haggard faces and tired minds, and we were sad to lose Reuter and Ferrell; Kemmerer graduated, and President Plyler went to greater psychologic glories at N. C. State.

The second semester saw Cadet Major J. J. Williams the new president, and Mrs. Williams our chapter sweetheart. The recently returned John Warlick represented us at IFC, and upheld the tradition of our not-so-long-ago alumnus of the same family who is now learning law at Duke.

Set behind a group of older trees, the SPE house faces south on Patterson Court.

March saw Sig Eps from the two Corolinas gathered at Raleich for the annual Carolinas' Sig Ep Ball. Another trip to a state-wide Sig Ep event was our visit to the Charle's Day softball contest in Chapel Hill. The spring social season was climaxed with the traditional Sig Ep Sweetheart Ball at the Red Fez Club, crowning Lois Williams with the Pearled Heart.

Williams' and Nye's scholarship push, with the steak or bean suppers, boosted us far up on the fraternity scale . . . Hall's athletes kept us in the running . . the TV addicts led by Etchison held their own through 'Shock,'' Paladin, and Hamlet (no one blinked an eye when the first picture tube went, for it was only supposed to last 4,000 hours) . . . Allan, not only the SMARTest brother but the number one pool shark on campus, had difficulty finding any competition . . . SPE-RM found meals at the house insufficient and often visited other fraternities for dinner.

The meaning of the fraternity house changed this year, as we learned to use and enjoy a real house; and something special was added to the furniture and paint to be left for those who remain.

1958-1959 in Sports

Davidson College was not a doornant for other teams in the Southern Conference in 1958-1959. The spirit aroused by a winning effort mounted in waves rather than in a continuous, year long surge, but the Cats proved themselves quite capable of acquitting themselves.

The football team, a consistent winner since the Dole era began eyed a 7.2 or 8.1 record but breaks went the other way just often enough to pare this down to 5.4. Leaders in conference departments found in their midst Charlie Benson in total offense, Danny House in pass receiving, and Paul Barbee in punting.

Despite a 4.6 record, the wrestlers found themselves with two title contenders in Westervelt and Gee, and had not the latter injured himself in tourney competition, the Cats probably would have come home twice victorious.

Coach J. W. McCutchan bowed out after his soccer team signed in with a 6-5 record, and the booters managed to place a pair of aces on the all Southern squad. The past three years might well be called the McCutchan Era. Soccer was "in" as a varsity sport for good.

Angus McBryde earned all-Conference cross country honors for a third year, as he captained the runners to a 4-3 season mark and a fourth place in the conference meet.

As last year, the Davidson basketball machine found itself operating primarily with the same three cogs—Hollingsworth, Mintz, and Shinn. Big Dave broke from the shadow of Semi and registered an 18-point per game average. Semi continued to show the context domain random and brance  $p_{\rm e}$  for the basket continued deadly. The annual remaining with West Virginia again terminated the hogi activity, after the Cats posted a 916 mark for the year.

The "team of the year at Davidson must alm st surely be the swimming squad, which notched a 7.3 record, smashed six school records, and hung up third place honors at the conference meet. This was truly a team effort.

A surprising baseball team of 1958 now found itself locking to fairly untried talent for its strength in the new campaign. Old standbys Don Killian, Harold Reagan, Dee Lide, Russ Cotton Pat Henderson, and Dee Green would form the nucleus of coach Stevens' nine.

Coach McKee got a glinit in his eye when the possibility of a conference terms championship was mentioned. At their strongest in several years, the netters reaped the profits of a building that had been going on for three and four years.

Golf seemed the most likely to produce a conference title in the spring. Returning from the cochampions of last year were five of the six, including medalist Bucky Dennis.

It seemed a long way from that undefeated season of two years ago as coach Whittle saw his boys trounced by The Citadel in the spring's first track meet. But with men like McBryde, Huie, and Armstrong in the lineup, and a little lighter schedule in the hopper, it seemed not at all unlikely that the tracksters would ring the victory bell often enough this year.

After spotting their opponents an opening period touchdown. Davidson set about to build up a 17-6 score. A 45-yard pass from Paul Barbee to Danny House netted 45 yards in the drive to the first Wildcat tally, scored on an aerial from southpaw quarterback Charlie Benson to Craig Wall. Barbee himself added the second six-pointer shortly thereafter on an eight-yard sprint. Freshman Bruce Usher, whose toe was to play a big role in the season, added three more points to the score before the half ended. Catawba then picked up momentum on the shoulders of halfbacks Gildersleeve and Morrow. As the Davidson team tired in the third quarter, the Indians moved ahead 22-17. The weary Wildcats failed to muster enough punch for a final period TD, and Catawba had its first win over Davidson in the football rivalry.

Midst steady rain, the Wildcats cashed in on a 3-yard plunge by fullback Dave Warden late in the first half and an end sweep by quarterback Charlie Benson for a 2-pointer under the new conversion rule.

Midway in the second half Citadel marched to a 6-pointer, but the conversion attempt failed. A determined D. C. line held another Bulldog attempt late in the last period at the 14 yard line. Dole praised the Wildcats for real team effort.

Davidson 7 Presbyterian 6

Presbyterian offensive wheels ground up and down the stadium throughout the game, but fumbles and penalties proved costly to the Blue Hose. The visiting Wildcats saw their goal line penetrated first, when P. C. fullback Bill Hill plunged across from a yard away. The extra point kick, which proved so important, was blocked by the Davidson line. At halftime the homelings held the 6-0 margin. The Cats punched across a score before two minutes had elapsed in the second half. Paul Barbee bursting off guard for a 35-yard unmolested scoring dash. A vengeful Terrier eleven, smarting from the defeat of 1957, opened up a 20-6 halftime lead that seemed invincible, but the boys of Dole drove hard in the last thirty minutes to reap a Wildcat win.

The quarterbacking and passing of Charlie Benson paced the Cats to a 16-7 upset of homestanding William and Mary to shove the season record to 5-2. ## Foreigners Shine As Soccer Nets 6-5 Mark

Wildcat soccer fortunes were aided this season by the addition of several foreign students to the squad. Wiecher Bergsma quickly proved his worth by wearing the most potent shoe on the team. He booted seventeen of the team's goals during the season. Ulrich Schoening, Willi Barenthin, Kai Pernanen, and Herman Laimer likewise saw extensive action for coach McCutchan's kickers.

Davidson tallied double wins over Pfeiffer and Belmont Abbey and single victories over King College and Warren Wilson en route to their 6-5 record. Three of the five losses were to Washington and Lee, Duke, and N. C. State by one goal.

Coach McCutchan bowed out of the picture after three years of service as head coach, at the same time expressing optimism in the outlook for 1959, despite the loss of all the foreign players and graduating seniors Gordon Neville, this year's captain, Pete Andrews, John Kuykendall, Sam Clarke, Hugh Campbell, and Sam Smith. Top returnees for '59 will include co-captains Ward McKeithen and Tom Johnson and all-Conference goalie Claude Finney.

For the third year in succession the Cats were represented on the all-Southern squad, as Finney earned recognition as number three goalie. Neville was named number five man at inside left, the first offensive player from Davidson to make the team.

Big Dave unleashes his book shot over the arms of V. P. I. defenders in the Blacksburg meeting.

South Carolina proved the first Carrousel tourney victim of Davidson in three years, as the Wildcats clawed out a 62-55 win in the opening round. It was a sweet victory that had been plotted from the first of the season.

The high scoring mark of the year was made against Washington and Lee, when Davidson ran up a 98-71 win, sparked by the scoring of Shinn, who established the individual season high of 32 points that night.

Perhaps the top dish served up to local fans was the home court finale, against Furman's Purple Paladins. Scrapping for a berth in the Southern Conference tournament, Davidson broke a nipand-tuck battle into a romp in the second half, as Semi Mintz bucketed eight of eight attempts from the floor, as part of the greatest exhibition the home fans had seen of him in his four years at Davidson. Final score found the Cats with tickets to Lexington in their hands and a 75-59 win over Furman in their hip pocket.

Hollingsworth's scoring prowess netted him third place in the conference scoring race, behind leader Bob Ayersman of Virginia Tech and all-American Jerry West of West Virginia.

Lanky Jim Nuckolls came on strong in the second half of the season to help fill the gap at center. Flashes of promise were shown as he maneuvered under the basket to pump through eight or ten points on a number of occasions, and pose new rebounding threats.

John Huie, John Stafford, and Bill Ferguson alternated at the guard position opposite Mintz, and all reached heights of attainment on occasion. Joe Markee, blond sophomore center, saw a good deal of action and promises to help fill the voids to be left by the departure of Mintz and Hollingsworth.

Westervelt, Gee Shine on Davidson Mats

Although the Wildcat grapplers managed to establish only a 4-6 record, coach Charlie Parker's boys furnished a conference champion and a runner-up and plenty of determined wrestling for the local fans.

Captain Westy Westervelt again captured the Southern Conference title in his division, competing in the 177-pound bracket in this year's tourney. The senior captain continued his winning ways this year, remaining undefeated again, although being held to a draw in the N. C. State match.

Milton Gee was the Cats' runner-up in conference competition. The 147-pound redhead was apparently headed for a title when an injury in the semi-finals forced him to forfeit the final match.

In addition to these two, Alex Porter, heavyweight who showed strong throughout the season, finished fourth, as did Cliff Thompson.

Davidson defeated Pfeiffer, The Citadel, Emory, and Wake Forest during the season, while dropping bouts to U. N. C., N. C. State, V. M. I., V. P. I., W. & L., and a return match with Pleiffer.

With the loss of Westervelt, Parker will lose his greatest student, but returnees Porter, Gee, Thompson, Jim Allen, Ed Irvin, and Bobby McIntyre should prove a solid squad next season.

Backstroker Tom Smith reaped a first and second place in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke events respectively. He also swam on the medley relay with George Gabel John Scott and captain Bob Wynne to a surprising second place in the conference. This team managed a record effort this year as did the freestyle team of Wynne. Gabel Hudgins and Bill Hellier.

Pitchers Pat Henderson, Smith, Green, Lide, and White saw mound action.

The late days of February saw Davidson baseballers, under the direction of Captain Harold Reagan, limbering up for the spring season. The infield, although not blessed with abundance of experience, appeared strong.

Sparkplugging the team at shortstop was flashy fielding Don Killian. Killian, also a consistent batter, was selected for all-conference honors. Jerry Cole, a good hitting convert from catcher, was at first. Substituting at that position was Ray Atkinson.

Stocky sophomore Harold Bynum, out for his first year, moved in and took over duties at second base. Henry Goodwin lent depth to the position. Meanwhile, Russell Cotton, a second baseman last year, assumed his new position at third base. Cotton was also expected to add punch at the plate.

Captain Reagan rounded out the infield behind the big mitt and chest protector as catcher. Sophomore Mac Henderson appeared his most likely proteae.

A hot and heavy battle for outfield positions was in store. Bob Groome and Gordon Swaim, both seniors, were the only returning lettermen.

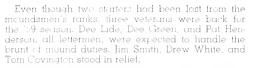

Others scrapping for a starting berth were Harry Shaw, Rick Cline, Ed Garrett, and Quinton Boyd. Shaw, an excellent defensive player, was sure of some action.

Trackmen Match Strides With Subsidized Teams

As the 1959 season opened, coach Whittle was faced with the task of keeping abreast of schools in the conference that adhered to subsidization with his unsubsidized squad.

The sprints appeared to be his strongest event with veterans Mel Armstrong, Marvin Bentley, and Ed Kizer. Armstrong, a junior who spent a year in the service, didn't lose a 100-yard or 220-yard race in a dual meet his sophomore year.

Another strong point was conference mile champion Angus McBryde in the distances. Aiding him were Bill Eckbert, Larry McNeill, Graham George, Dan McAlister, King Cole, and Bill Thompson.

The field events found Dave Warden and Charlie Rutherford doing most of the throwing with the shot and discus. Stuart Nickles handled the javelin.

John Huie was the mainstay in the high jump and pole vault while Armstrong, Hugh Murray, and Kai Pernanen were all over 21 feet in the broad jump.

Depth was a problem in the hurdles, but Al Mac-Kay in the lows and Walter Bishop in the highs were expected to give creditable performances. The middle distances featured the running of MacKay, Roger Beebe, Graham George, Chester Alexander, and Ed Kizer.

Also a strong bunch of frosh including distance men Dave Gilmour and Mac Brownlee were being groomed to move up to the varsity next year.

Main Southern Conference foes were Furman, The Citadel, and V. M. I.

Netters Strongest Since '55

The time had come for the Wildcat netters again to make their bid for Southern Conference tennis laurels. In the ranks of Dick McKee were the strongest strokers since the conference champions of '55.

Four seniors who had played varsity since their freshman year led the lethal net attack. Semi Mintz, John Poindexter, Tom McCutchen, and Dick Hodel, number six division winner in last year's conference tournament, all took the court for their fourth year.

Backing them up were probably the two most promising sophomores in the league, Doug Orr and Finley Lee. Orr, champ of the number five bracket and half of the number three doubles winners with graduated Dave Pearsall, teamed with the wily Lee to form a doubles combination that promised to be the loop's best by their senior year.

Harry Broome, a junior with two years' varsity experience under his belt, rounded out a strong top seven. Also adding depth to the squad were sophomore Rick Aderhold and junior Jim Hamilton.

Davidson's main competition in the league rested in the men of George Washington, last year's conference champs. The Cats' main forte lay in their well rounded lineup, with any one of the top six or seven capable of playing in the upper half of the ladder.

Though improved with age the Cats faced a rugged task in equalling last year's 13-5 record as they challenged such outside opposition as Carolina, Duke, Ohio State, and M. I. T.

Golf Champs Seek Repeat of Last Season's Record

With five of the six men that led the Wildcats to a co-champtonship in the Southern Conference Tast year returning, coach Tom Scott looked forward to the '59 season with expectancy.

Remaining in the fold were senior co-captains Bucky Dennis and Sam Sloan, Verner Stanley, Sut Alexander, and Gary Heeseman.

Dennis had walked off with medalist honors in the conference tournament carding a 144 for the two round activity. The other co-captain, Sam Sloan, returned for his fourth year of varsity play.

Stanley, a sophomore who shot the best golf in the '58 season and was low man in individual averages, should again be a big gun for the Cats. Heeseman and Alexander were expected to hit consistently in the seventies. Waging a hot battle for sixth position were juniors Tom Johnson and Eb LeMaster.

Top competition in the conference was expected from George Washington, co-champs last year, and Furman.

The Davidson cross country freshmen placed by captain David Gilmour, run right on off with the state meet and all competition during the season. Mack Brownlee and Bill Cottey also ran strong for the frosh harners.

One of the most promising crop of basketballers to enter Davidson in quite a while promise plenty of support for the varsity next year. Four men Jerry Bussell, the catlike guard; Tommy Harris, his southpaw running mate; D. G. Martin, the hustling forward; and Allen Millar, his classy counterpart, all averaged well into double figures.

Coach Evans tound a promising bunch of freshman wrestlers who acquitted themselves well on the mats this year. Jim Alexander, who won an intertraternity title went on to further achievement in the name of the college. Mike Van Doeren, Buddy Brauch, Graham Allison, Butch Ledoyen all names to keep in mind for the future.

Coach Tucker couldn't wait until next year to get his hands on Barry Branch, Stefan Yourg Chase Hunter, Herb Collins, Tommy French, and Bac Mc-Donald. All of these freshmen won a great deal of points in the intramural meet, and promised enough addition to the varsity next year to comprise the greatest tank squad in Wildcat annols.

Spring found a likely crop of frosh on the baseball, track, golf, and tennis rosters. These had yet to prove themselves, but the turnout forecast plenty of talent to choose from as the coaches scanned the scene.

Pbi Delts Capture I-F Trophy Race; IMAC Active

The Kappa Sigs compiled an 11-1 record in flickerball to edge out the second place Betas and Phi Delts, who managed 10-2 marks in the fall league. This race set the stage for the interfraternity sports race for the year, as these three fraternities remained in the fore throughout the year.

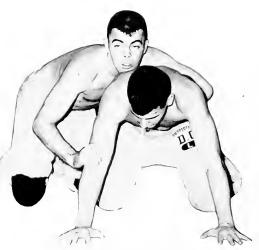

Donny MacQueen, Sam McGuirt, and Bobo Mc-Eachern paced the green shirts through the season, and earned slots on the all-fraternity squad. Mel Armstrong and Billy Davis p'roved the Beta sparkplugs, and Marvin Bentley, Semi Mintz, and Bobby Davis earned all-star honors for the Phis.

Kappa Sig winning ways continued with a championship in the wrestling meet. Funderburk was the Snappers' only champ, but three runner-up finishes and several other places gave them their winning total, which topped the KA's, Betas, and Phi Delts, who finished behind them in that order.

Betas Mike Van Doeren and Wesley Weeks, Phi Delts John Poindexter and Graham Allison, K A's Forrest Wilkerson and Jim Alexander, Sigma Chi Butch LeDoyen, and Pi Kapp Quinton Boyd, copped the other titles.

Swimming Records Fell. Phi Delt stock soared with the swimming meet, which the blue and white boys won for the third consecutive year. A contingent headed by Barry Branch, Herb Collins, Arthur Booth, Bob McDonald, and Andy Boggs, plus Brownie Thurman, and Craig Ray, captured five of the eight events. Records fell to Branch in the 75-yard freestyle and 75-yard medley, to Sigma Chi George Kirkpatrick in the 25-yard freestyle, and to the Phi Delt freestyle relay team. Sigma Chis finished second, Kappa Sigs third, and Betas fourth.

Basketball again found the Phils leading the way, but a late season defeat by the determined SAE's dropped them into a three-way tie for first with the SAE's and Phi Gams. A strong, well-balanced league featured numerous exciting games, as most of the fraternities found competent hoopsters in their ranks. Beta Freddy Lane and Phi Delt Bob Denham put on the cutstanding performances to earn top honors on the all-star squad, which was also decorated by the presence of Danny House, Phi Gam; Quinton Boyd, Pi Karp; and Don Killian Sigma Chi.

Dee Green and John West, KA's, proved invincible on the handball courts and took home a perfect 12:0 record finishing just ahead of the once-beaten ATO's, Richard Brubaker and Roy Gilbert. The Betas and Phi Delts also finished among the leaders.

ATC: Spiencer Mit hent tires a jump shot against the Phi Gams.

Phis Edge Out Betas. Phi Delt Roger Beebe paced his mates to a narrow victory over the Betas in the track meet. Beebe won the 440 and 880 and ran on the Phis' relay team. Mike Laughlin, Sigma Chi, was also a double winner, taking the 100-yard dash and the broad jump. Betas Bob Martin and Ranny Turner took first and second in the shot put, and their brothers Lee Chapman and Charlie Rutherford were one-two in the discus. Burke, Sigma Chi, Davis, Beta, and Austin and Calhoun, Phi Delt, all ted for first in the high jump. Atkins, SAE, took the 220, and the Kappa Sig relay team captured that event.

Volleyball found the Kappa Sigs, Betas, ATO's, and Sigma Chis fighting for the lead, as the Phi Delts, champions for four years, slipped.

The Phi Delts maintained a 100-point margin over the Kappa Sigs and Betas going into the volleyball tournament, but strong finishes by either could close the gap to a tight race.

Volleyball found the Phi Delts, champs for four years, slip out of contention, but their last week defeat of the Betas preserved the crown for the Kappa Sigs.

As they raced to the wire with the Betas for the softball crown, the Phis mathematically eliminated the possibility of their being overcome in the I-F race. By copping the big golden cup for the third consecutive year they earned permanent possession, first fraternity ever to thus retire the trophy.

The national honorary fraternity Phi Beta Kappa represents the highest honor bestowed for excellence in scholastic achievement. Founded December 5, 1776, at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia, the Society is almost as old as our nation itself. It was originally a social organization, but in 1831 Harvard University removed the requirement of secrecy, and through the next half-century the nature of the society changed from social to honorary. The Davidson chapter, North Carolina Gamma, was founded in 1923.

The men chosen for this recognition are primarily required to have maintained a high scholastic average, but they are also expected to possess character and integrity, in addition to a certain amount of leadership ability. The honor represents sheer ability, but more significant, it embodies a job well done, for talent is of no value unless it is applied.

Sigma Upsilon

When the lights burn late down on fraternity court on Thursday evenings, it's a good indication that the literary elite of Davidson are gathered together in one of the fortnightly seances of Sigma Upsilon—oldest and proudest honorary fraternity on the campus. Local sanctuary of the Muses, and the origin of fierce battles in literary criticism, Sigma Upsilon seeks, above all, to stimulate, perpetuate and enhance the art of creative writing at Davidson.

After the inevitable coffee and doughnuts—the only ambrosia for Davidson Devotees of the Muses. the real business of the evening begins in earnest. Brothers congregate in small discussion groups to analyze the evening's productions, and offer suggestions and appraisals. Gradually the talk drifts to art, religion, philosophy—and a keen analysis of the more significant phases of campus life. Thus through continuing criticism and creative activity, Sigma Upsilon inspires and nourishes a fertile life in the mind at Davidson.

Sigma Upsilon completed a highly successful year under the leadership of: Tom Kernan, president; Carter Daniel, vice-president; Ed Spivey, secretarytreasurer.

Freshmen still wetted their taste for riots.

Chambers' corridors echoed our footsteps.

Each Class Was a Distinctive Group; but

College life means something different to each class. It follows that each person changes his feelings in the course of four college years. The freshman is likely to face the campus apprehensively; but he soon learns to take his place in the community and to become an integral part of college activity. The period following rigid regulations distinguishes him for a while from the mass of bodies . . . and the upperclassmen begin to recognize him as an individual.

The sophomore may return regretfully, because the first year was hard. Moreover, the summer was "great," and he's gotten accustomed again to being at home. Schoolwork fast overtakes him, though. It is the "busy" year. The junior is ready to come back, indeed in a hurry to get there. He is well established in the school and feels at home here. He has new responsibilities this year, though they are personal ones. He begins to probe for meaning in what he is doing; he begins to look more definitely into the future, and he knows he must settle down.

The senior doesn't have time to think about whether he likes the idea of coming back. He wants to finish that last year, but he is faced with work and campus responsibilities that give him little time for concern about how he feels. He is the leader now . . . and he finds that people are really no different.
